

FOR-SITE FOUNDATION

art about place

FACT SHEET

WHAT

The FOR-SITE FOUNDATION supports the creation, exhibition, and dissemination of new work about place.

The Foundation's activities fall into three interrelated initiatives: production + exhibition, education, and dissemination.

PRODUCTION + EXHIBITION

Based upon proposals from FOR-SITE's Institutional Partners, FOR-SITE awards an artist a stipend of $25,000 and a residency of one to four months. The residency is designed to provide the artist with the space, time and resources to create new art, and to ensure that via a timely and cost-effective process, this new work is exhibited at the sponsoring Institutional Partner's venue.

EDUCATION

FOR-SITE's education program provides a unique opportunity for students, artists, educators and communities to engage with art about place in a hands-on way. Offerings currently include biannual seminars and an annual symposium to stimulate and foster a deeper understanding of site-responsive art.

RESIDENCY FACILITY

FOR-SITE's artist residency is located in Nevada City in the foothills of the Sierra Mountains. Available to the artist are Bay Area architect Michelle Kaufmann's innovative Glidehouse, a studio prefab designed for sustainability; a 1,700 square-foot workshop; and 47 acres of undeveloped land steeped in California lore.

WHEN

Residencies, exhibitions and public programming launch in Fall 2005.

FUNDING

Initial support for the project is obtained through individual contributions.

ORGANIZATION

FOR-SITE is a non-profit governed by a Board of Directors.
