

TED News in Brief: The (real) secret to a great infographic, Ai Weiwei at Alcatraz, and more

By Tedstaff
December 3, 2013

Here, your weekly recap of TED-related news:

Chinese dissident artist Ai Weiwei (watch his TED talk) is planning a new series of artworks to debut at Alcatraz, the iconic American prison in San Francisco Bay. As he told the New York Times: “The idea of loss of freedom as a punishment raises philosophical questions.” The exhibit, still in progress, will debut next September.